The Democratic line of battle was headed by Hon. P. tr. Lowe, candidate for sherint, with Withiam Societies, candidate for sherint, with Withiam Societies, candidate for frage-tirer. Con Curtan, Candidate for Register of Beeds, and Mr. Backer.

Early in the evening it was reported that the Resulbicans had come to capture that the Resulbicans had come to capture the most for the form to control the choice of steakers; but that was soon settled when the noise for being arrived. The remocrats nominated and sected Mr. N. V. Neestham, Chalitman, and Mr. S. Shanton, Secretary. The Republicans then began to see that the meeting meant obsidess, and the Chalitman in a lair and impartial manner called for the business of the meeting as he should have done. There was sheriff.

arrived The Permocrats nominated and elected Mr. N. V. Needman, Chairman, and 3r. S. Samton, Nectedary. The Republicans then began to see that the meeting meant oustines, and the Chairman in a tair and impartial manner called for the business of the meeting as he should have done. There was a short desuntory fire of sman taik among the speakers along the speakers and road and at was asteed that the following should be the order in which the speakers of the Republican hominees, wanted to get the floor and keep it as long as possible for the purpose of abosing in Times. The was given second pace in order to make all thins equal and give the Times another advertisement to be paid for out of political funds. Capt. Frank T. Lynch was placed on the flat sheaker.

Col. Coffin, who want si to ventilate the Liue Harchef and give it a free advertisement, was assigned to the fourth place.

Mr. W. Shepherd, candidate for Treasurer, with his usual coolness, accepted a position as number five, and the speaking commenced.

About what they said.

He had guides and an es ort part of the way, and ne followed across the coun the trail which had been made by an advancing army of 6 so men and the piles of that army. Feats of horsemanship and endurance, in which great distance is made in a whort time, and ha which the rider's like is never for a moment guaranteed against the shot of some arking savage—these are the staples of which the nic of a scout in the Indian country is made up. In August, 1888, Buffalo Bib' rode in 12 hours rom Fort Larned to Fort Zarab and tack sixty-five miles; in the succeeding twelve hours he carried dispatches to General Sherdour Fort Larned to Fort Hays, sixty-five miles, From Fort Hays he rode the next twenty-four hours to Fort Donge, ninety-five miles; on the next night he went to Fort Larned, thirty five miles on foot and thirty miles on a mule; and again the next night from Fort Larned to Fort Hays, sixty-five miles. He made on horses, mules and afoot, three huncred and fifty-five miles, and he was in the saddle or on loot fifty-eight hours. Every one of these four succe afve rides was made through a regular breakness country to which there were no roads, and in which a scarcely perceptible trait had to be followed in the obsenuity of the night. plies of that army. It someto us that the government has at last chosen the most effective way of civilizing the indians, in selecting the young for training, and removing them beyond the daily contact and influence of the brech-cloud loadans. In a lew years they can be sent back as active missionaries, and in such ciont ladmans. In a lew years they can be sent back as active missionaries, and in such numbers that they wil have a social and moral power not possessed by the lew. A good work is also being done at the signey. The older Indians are gradually becoming self-reliant and docile, and while the prog ess slow, yet from year to year we can see lecided improvement.
